DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 6-10 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bain et al.[U.S. PGPub 20010034768].

4. As to claim 6, Bain teaches the invention as claimed including: a system for communicating with a motorist, comprising:

a repository in which vehicles are assigned electronic addresses according to its license plate registration number [e.g., Abstract; paragraph 8];

and an instant messaging service that enables the motorist to be contacted at the electronic address assigned to said license plate registration number [e.g., paragraphs 6 and 59].

5. As to claims 7-8, Bain further teaches that an algorithm coordinates a plurality of electronic addresses for each license plate registration number, wherein the motorist can simultaneously communicate over each of said plurality of electronic addresses [e.g., paragraphs 7-8].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bain et al. (hereafter "Bain") [U.S. PGPub 20010034768], as applied to claims 6-8 above, further in view of Himmelstein [U.S. PGPub 20040162064].

8. As to claims 9-10, Bain teaches the invention substantially as claimed including:
a system for communicating with a motorist, comprising:

a repository in which vehicles are assigned a telephone address according to its license plate registration number [e.g., paragraphs 33-42 and 50];

Bain does not specifically teach that the telephone address is a cellular phone number and use a wireless telephone service to enable the motorist to be contacted at the telephone address assigned to said license plate registration number.

However, mobile communication using wireless telephone service is well known in the art. For example, Himmelstein teaches a system for driver-to-driver communications based on wireless phone system, which is equivalent to the conventional cellular phone system [see Fig.1 and the related passage].

Since Bain teaches that each user's identification and his vehicle could be correlated through the records built into a database, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have also included cellular phone numbers into the database because it provides a rather convenient option for the drivers over the cellular phone using the license plate number as a key to find the cellular phone number [paragraph 61].

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Celik [U.S. PGPub 20040236792];

Moskowitz et al. [U.S. Pat. No. 6339736];

Art Unit: 2154

10. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 days from the mail date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will result in ABANDONMENT of the application (see 35 U.S.C. 133, M.P.E.P. 710.02, 710.02(b)).
